TWENTY-NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
OCTOBER 22, 2023

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time

With little more than a year until the United States' national elections, I find myself feeling, like many Catholics, both dread and energized. Dread, because our democratic republic can be a messy endeavor and campaigns a long, nasty, and unedifying slog; energized, because hope for positive societal change can be enticing and engaging. As a pastor, I see similar conflicting attitudes in those whom I serve. How can Catholics best engage our political arena in a way which is truly helpful and worthwhile?

This week's Gospel reading offers wisdom in this regard. Jesus says, "Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." This riddle forces us to answer for ourselves a hidden question: what is the relationship between political and divine authority? Two common, but false, answers lead to mischief. If we answer that the two are equivalent, politics becomes our absolute authority. This happens whenever religion is slave to the state, as in the travesty of the pro-Nazi German Christian movement in the 1930s and 40s. It also usually occurs when there is an official state religion. If we answer that the two are totally unrelated, we end up with an unchecked aggressive secularist state as we often experience now. Thus, religion becomes a weak and private pastime.

What's a better alternative? At our best, Christians hold that political authority does indeed have its own legitimate autonomy but is nested within God's all-encompassing authority. Think, for example, of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s respect for politics while also being able to criticize unjust human laws because he recognized a higher heavenly law. In other words, Caesar owns politics – and God owns Caesar. So, we should allow Jesus' words to lead us to have a deep respect and willingness to peacefully engage in politics without making that engagement our religion. We bring our faith to bear on our politics knowing confidently that Caesar isn't God – but he is indeed God's.

– Father John Muir

From the desk of Father Kevin:

Dear Parishioners,

"We give thanks to God always for all of you, remembering you in our prayers, unceasingly calling to mind your work of faith and labor of love and endurance in hope of our Lord Jesus Christ." 1 Thess 1:3

When I think of the life of St. Justin Martyr Parish, I give thanks for you and your work of faith and labor of love and endurance in hope of our Lord Jesus Christ. God the Father first loves us and gives us Jesus as our Savior. Jesus calls us together. The Holy Spirit shares His gifts with each of us for the good of all. Your generous response to these gifts of God makes our parish thrive.

These gifts of God also challenge us, inviting us into a deeper relationship with God, His people and the mission of bringing the Gospel to a troubled world. The challenge changes over time as we change and as our parish changes. Committing ourselves to the prayer and mission of the parish helps us all answer this call to deeper relationships.

We Follow Jesus in Faith, Prayer and Service

Thank you to all parishioners, especially the 129 families who have completed and submitted your Commitment Card to the parish. For those parishioners who have not yet had the opportunity to submit their card, a letter will be mailed to you with a personalized Commitment Card. This is an opportunity to reflect upon and renew your sacrificial commitment to support the mission of St. Justin Martyr Church. For those who are able – there is an opportunity to make a one-time gift to the parish. If you have any questions, please contact the church office.

For those of you who would prefer to fill out your Commitment Card online, please visit the parish website at <https://stjustin.net>.

Honor Your Father and Mother

Our Catholic faith is very rich and deep in its teaching. There is much more to our faith than what we first perceive. That is part of the mystery of our faith. Not a mystery to be solved by a detective, but something that requires continual contemplation. One example is the ten commandments, we may have learned them in grade school. They come to us from two different books in the Bible. St. Augustine condensed and summarized the commandments into the simple and easy to learn form that we use today.

The fourth commandment is pretty straight forward. Honor your father and your mother. The three previous commandments were directed toward our relationship with God. The fourth commandment serves as a transition to how we are to treat others. It is important to note that God addresses how we are to love others begins by starting with our father and mother. The two people who gave us life, and our primary educators in all things, including the faith, take a preeminent role in our response of love toward others.

How to honor your father and mother certainly changes throughout the course of your life. As children, that mostly meant obeying and treating our parents with respect. As we got older and moved out of the house, honoring took on new meaning as we worked to honor the parental relationship with visits and phone calls. Later in life as their health declined, honoring took on a commitment to care for our parents as we were able.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church dives even deeper into the meaning of what is meant by father and mother. In viewing them as parents having authority over their children, the Catholic Church sees any authority figure as worthy of honor, affection, and gratitude: pupil to teacher, employees to employers, subordinates to leaders, citizens to their country and to those who administer and govern it. This presents its own obvious challenges.

The blessing is that the fourth commandment is the only one that comes with a reward. "That your days may be long in the land which the LORD your God gives you." Respecting the commandment provides not just the spiritual fruits, but tangible fruits of peace and prosperity.

Our Catholic faith reveals a depth beyond our initial perceptions. "Honor your father and mother," stands as a bridge between our relationship with God and our treatment of others, underscoring the significance of showing respect for others beginning with our parents. This honor evolves throughout our lives, from childhood obedience to caring for aging parents. The broader interpretation of this commandment encourages us to honor all authority figures in our lives, acknowledging the challenges it presents. By adhering to this commandment, we not only reap spiritual benefits but also experience tangible peace and prosperity in our lives.

Peace and Blessings, Deacon Tim

Catholic Humor: One winter's day, an inebriated Catholic ice fisherman drilled a hole in the ice and peered into it. A loud voice rang out from above, "There are no fish there." The man walked several yards and drilled another hole. Again, the voice boomed out, "There are no fish there." Then the man stumbled, with pole and bottle in hand, 50 yards away and drilled yet another hole. For the third time, the voice yelled, "I told you, there are no fish there." Finally, the fisherman looked up to the sky and asked, "God, is that you?" "No, you idiot," the voice replied, "I'm the skating rink manager!"

The Feast of St. John Paul II

On October 22, we celebrate the pope who inspired the world! Born Karol Wojtyla in Krakow, Pope John Paul II became the first-ever Polish pope. He came of age in the early 20th century and lived through both the Nazi and communist occupations of Poland. His resistance activities were cultural, operating an underground theater company and entering a secret seminary. Karol was ordained a priest in 1946 and later a bishop. As a bishop, he actively participated in the second Vatican Council, and instituted the renewal of church life recommended by the council in His diocese. He was elected pope in 1978. As pope, the interests that captured his heart as a young man continued – his pastoral concern for young people, his philosophical emphasis on the human person, and his devotion to Mary and to the mercy of God.

St. John Paul II, pray for us!

Father Joe Robinson

Hello everyone,
I'm Father Joe!

I have been in Cleveland all my life. After college I began to work and discern on a deeper level about what I was really supposed to do with my life. Discernment, prayer, and conversations with a few priests led me to Saint Mary Seminary. There I found a true home where I could dive deeper into faith and service.

I now call home St. Columbkille in Parma. I look forward to sharing my thoughts about "the Perfect Christmas".
